

“

Having the Osteopathic Sports Medicine subspecialty certification reflects a specialized skillset and training.

”

P. Gunnar Brolinson, DO
AOA Subspecialty Certification in Sports Medicine

AOA Board Certification is the preferred choice for DOs

16 specialty certifying boards | 27 primary specialties | 48 subspecialties

For more than 80 years, the American Osteopathic Association (AOA) has advanced the distinctive philosophy and practice of osteopathic medicine through Board Certification. Developed by DOs for DOs, it exemplifies clinical excellence coupled with whole person, patient-centered care. AOA Board Certification puts physicians on the track to lifelong learning and success.

Nationally recognized

Board Certification from AOA is accepted by employers and insurers across the country

Competitive career advantage

Indicator of clinical excellence

Affordable process

Cost competitive with other board exams

Convenient exam options

Remote proctoring for oral and written exams

Flexible scheduling

Includes early entry for some specialties

Innovation driven

Constantly evolving to meet the needs of physicians

More than 80 Years of Excellence

Scan to learn more or visit:
certification.osteopathic.org

BOARD
CERTIFICATION

Need to Know

Apply to sit for Sports Medicine subspecialty certification exam.

Applications open 6 months prior to the exam administration date.

2025 exam date:

Written Exam

July 11-12, 2025: $1,100 exam fee

All exams are offered remotely with no travel required!

American Osteopathic Sports Medicine Conjoint:

142 E. Ontario
Chicago, IL 60611

Direct phone: (312) 202-8272

Email:

sportsmedicine@osteopathic.org

Become AOA Board Certified in Sports Medicine

We've enhanced access to AOA Subspecialty Board Certification in Sports Medicine and tailored the process to your needs. Here's what you need to know to obtain AOA Subspecialty Board Certification in Sports Medicine.

- Hold an AOA issued primary certification.
- Hold a valid, active license to practice medicine in one of the 50 states, a U.S. territory, the District of Columbia, or Canada.
- Successfully complete a one-year AOA or ACGME-approved fellowship in Sports Medicine.
- Upon completion of training you are eligible six years to take the Sports Medicine exam.

Becoming AOA Board Certified

Upon successfully passing the written exam you will:

- Receive your printed official board certificate in the mail.
- Gain access to an official, portable and easily verifiable electronic version of your certification.

Maintain your Certification through Osteopathic Continuous Certification (OCC)

OCC provides opportunities for continuous professional development centered on patient care, practice enhancement, and life long learning. Continuous certification requirements:

- Maintain active licensure and primary board certification.
- Meet the continuing medical education requirements of your primary board.
- Participate in the annual longitudinal assessment.

https://aoaforms.formstack.com/forms/abms_reciprocity

Scan to learn more or visit:

<https://certification.osteopathic.org/sports-medicine/>

BOARD
CERTIFICATION